

Hunt/Protect Treasure

The ancient Slann funneled the power of the Old Ones into creations of unparalleled wonder, interweaving astrology, science, and magic. When the Great Catastrophe forced the Slann to retreat to their Temple Cities, many of these artifacts were left behind in carefully hidden vaults. There these relics would rest until the Great Plan called for their return.

- Three maps lead to treasure hoards: find and decode them or copy someone else's map through espionage.
- Raid treasure hoards and cart the loot to safety before it is reclaimed!

Treasure Maps

- Quelixotok: Rumors say this deserted ruin crackles with magical energy.
- Kroqope: Lying along trade routes between the Spine of Sotek and the Isthmus of Pabaux, the wealth of the cold-blooded inhabitants of this city is famed even in the Old World.
- The Ziggurat of Twilight: Rising high above the jungle canopy, none dare enter this imposing structure.

Narrative battles

- Treasure hunt: Deciphered treasure map in hand, venture forth and claim the riches of Lustria for yourself!
 - Each location can only be successfully raided once.
- Reclaim/Steal Treasure: Brigands have stolen precious and splendid artifacts. Track them down and correct this injustice!

Major events

- Trigger the Treasure Hunt: requires starting the turn with a deciphered map.
- Trigger the Reclaim/Steal Treasure battle: can only be done the turn immediately after a successful hunt.
- Copy map: Why work hard when you can steal? Your spies can easily exfiltrate sensitive documents.
 - Select another player. If that player has the Claim treasure goal, you get a copy of a treasure map they have found. If that map is deciphered and/or the locations are scouted, you also get that information.

Minor events

Protectors

- Enchant: Renew faded magical protections and make one of the treasure maps harder to decipher.
- Fortify: Protect what is yours! Make success in the Treasure Hunt battle more difficult at one location.

Hunters

- Discover: Initial forays into lesser ruins uncover cryptic maps. They are useless until deciphered.
- Decipher: Against the power of magic, faith, and logic, the map's protections crumble.
 - You will only know which map you have after deciphering it.
 - Deciphering a map costs one extra Goal Point per enchantment placed on it by the protectors.
- Scout: Learn what is guarding the treasure. This knowledge makes it easier to get in, get treasure, and get out!
